

Further Modeling  $q_{95}$  Windows for the Suppression of Edge Localized Modes by Resonant Magnetic Perturbations in the DIII-D tokamak

by Richard Fitzpatrick

Reply to Editor's Comments

I have modified the paper to remove material that appeared in earlier papers. I have also tried to make it more clear why it is somewhat surprising that the relaxation of the no-slip constraint makes so little difference to the calculation.